Injunction Prevents Moneshewitz from Going to His Home.

Barnet Moneshewitz has appealed from an injunction order restraining aim from visiting his wife, Lena, a dressmaker at 149 Clinton street. The order was issued on Jan. 8, 1900.

Ten years ago Moneshewitz was declared insane and sent to Ward's Island. He remained there eight years and was then transferred to Islip, L. I. Last Christmas Eve Mrs. Moneshewitz returned home late at night from snop-ping. She found her husband, whom she had believed to be in the asylum Thinking he was still insane, she ran from the room. In vain her husband nsisted he must still be crazy, and re fused to allow him to approach her. Her husband was just as insistent the other way. Mrs. Monesnewitz thereupon obtained the injunction order through her lawyers, Rosenthal & Rosenthal, of 333 Grand street.

Felu, who was can armiess artist, died Monday in his geventieth year. He painted with his feet and copied hundreds of the best masterpiece.

Many specmens of his work are now in America. While working he held his palette with his left great toe and manipulated his brush with his right foot with great skill.

M: Felu was born armiess. He was distinguished as a figure painter and was about seventy years of age. The only other armiess artist now living is Bertram Hiles, an Englishman who lost his arms in an accident and who paints with his mouth. He is a land-scape painter of ability and has carried off prizes.
